

William Blair Mid Cap Growth Fund Fund Manager Commentary

Market Overview

Performance of U.S. equity indices was broadly positive for the year-to-date period ended September 30, 2021. First quarter market performance was supported by improvement in corporate earnings growth, positive economic data, robust job growth and massive stimulus distributed to U.S. households and businesses. Manufacturing activity, gross domestic product (GDP), and job growth continued to increase into the second quarter and corporations reported healthy earnings.

While U.S. equity market performance and economic data were both strong through the first half of 2021, U.S. economic data was mixed in the third quarter, in part due to supply chain disruptions and rising COVID-19 cases. As the Delta variant became the prominent strain across the country, new cases of COVID-19, along with hospitalizations and deaths, increased and peaked in the third quarter. Despite these headwinds, corporate earnings reports continued to exhibit strength.

The U.S. Congress avoided a government shutdown by passing a short-term continuing resolution to suspend the debt limit. The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) reiterated its commitment to maintain a low target federal funds rate as the economy recovers from COVID-19 disruption. However, coincident with inflationary concerns and the Fed's announcement that it will begin to slow the pace of its asset purchases in the near term, U.S. Treasury yields rose in late September. Against this backdrop and despite healthy corporate earnings, U.S. equity index returns were mixed in the third quarter, with less differentiation between growth and value style indices in the quarter than was observed earlier in the year.

Fund Performance

The William Blair Mid Cap Growth Fund (Class of N shares) outperformed during the third quarter, driven by a combination of strong stock selection and style tailwinds. Our top contributors to performance were Information Technology companies Pure Storage, MongoDB and Dynatrace, as well as Health Care holding Horizon Therapeutics. Pure Storage, a flash-based storage solutions provider, experienced strong demand for its broadening product portfolio, improving margins and a resurgence in on-premise customer spending following a COVID-19 related slowdown. Shares of MongoDB, the provider of the world's leading NoSQL database, benefited from accelerating growth of its cloud offering. Stock selection in Communication Services, including our position in Warner Music Group, also added value. From a style perspective, our bias toward companies with more consistent business models was a tailwind. Top detractors from third quarter performance included Clarivate (Industrials), RingCentral (Information Technology), GoDaddy (Information Technology), Exact Sciences (Health Care) and New Fortress (Energy). Clarivate is a diversified information services company whose shares were pressured largely due to a delay in the expected approval of an acquisition. RingCentral is a provider of software-as-a-service (SAAS) solutions for business communications. Shares lagged during the quarter on concerns regarding the company's competitive positioning and potential pricing pressure. Stock specific contributors and detractors for the third quarter are discussed in greater detail at the end of this quarterly review.

Outlook

Looking forward, a continued sense of optimism around U.S. economic potential remains. As the Delta variant wave recedes, consumer confidence and spending are expected to increase, in part due to pent up savings from government stimulus, and job growth and earnings growth are likely to benefit. However, some uncertainty remains as continued vaccine hesitancy among portions of the population may pose a challenge to the U.S. achieving herd immunity. Potential corporate tax increases, elevated input prices and accelerating wage gains may put pressure on corporate profits. Amid tensions between political parties, the U.S. Congress must come to a resolution to raise the debt ceiling in order to avoid the risk of a federal default. While inflationary and supply chain pressures are likely to persist into 2022, labor shortages may ease as government unemployment stimulus abates and the spread of COVID-19 variants moderates.

Our investment philosophy leads us to companies with durable businesses, whose stock prices are not reflective of our long-term fundamental expectations, that we believe can outperform over a market cycle. As we continue to monitor economic developments and navigate through the business model implications of COVID-19 disruption, our focus remains on identifying companies with superior management, high barriers to entry and differentiated products or services that are underappreciated by the market. We believe our longstanding focus on bottom-up identification of durable business franchises, whose stocks present attractive risk/reward opportunities, will serve us well in a variety of economic environments.

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES

The Fund's returns will vary, and you could lose money by investing in the Fund. The Fund invests most of its assets in equity securities of domestic growth companies where the primary risk is that the value of the equity securities it holds might decrease in response to the activities of those companies or market and economic conditions. Individual securities may not perform as expected or a fund used by the Adviser may fail to produce its intended result. The securities of smaller and medium sized companies tend to be more volatile and less liquid than securities of larger companies. In addition, small and medium sized companies may be traded in lower volumes. This can increase volatility and increase the liquidity risk whereby the Fund will not be able to sell the security on short notice at a reasonable price. The Fund is not intended to be a complete investment program. The Fund is designed for long-term investors.
